CONFEDERATE VETERANS PARADE IN NEW ORLEANS

March To Tunes By Which They Fought—Event Is Most Interesting Of Entire Three Days' Program.

New Orleans, La., April 27.—The annual reunion parade, probably the most interesting feature of the reunion so far as the general public and the rank and file of the veterans are concerned, took place today. With airs which bade them do and die for their cause two score years ago, the veteran remnant of the Confederate army marched through the streets, the object of a wildly cheering throng's enthusiasm. By proclamation Mayor Behrman the day was a holiday in New Orleans—public buildings and stores generally being closed during the hours when the parade was passing. Thousands of visitors from all parts of Louisiana and neighboring states, coming for the sole purpose of seeing the old soldiers, were added to the multitude already on the streets. The line of march was through the business section of the city. The principal point of interest was the grand stand in Canal street, from which the parade was reviewed by state and city officials and other guests of prominence. The place at the head of the column was assigned to Governor Blanchard and his staff, who were followed by the Louisiana soldiery, the United States troops from Jackson barracks, and sailors from the United States warships. The accredited representatives of the ladies' organizations came next in carriages. Then followed General Stephen D. Lee, commanding the Confederate veterans, and his staff, and the chief marshal of the parade, Major General Albert Estopinal, commanding the Louisiana division. The first division consisted of the Army of Northern Virginia, headed by General C. Irvine Walker. This comprised the divisions of Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, the District of Columbia, South Carolina and West Virginia. The second section consisted of the Army of Tennessee depart-

ARRESTED ON AN ODDIOUS CHARGE

BARBER WM. ANDERSON OF BELoit BROUGHT HERE. TO ESCAPE MOB VIOLENCE Is 42 Years of Age and Formerly Worked in Janesville Shop—Trial Set for May 3.

Charged with an alleged crime against his step-daughter, who is under fourteen years of age, William Anderson, proprietor of a barbershop adjoining the Bijou theatre in Beloit since he left the employ of Arnold H. Tilt in this city about a year ago last December, was arrested at 5:30 last evening and taken to the Line City lock-up. There was an ugly tone to the talk which was aroused by an alleged confession of the child shortly before the arrest was made and fears of a possible attempt to resort to mob law and lynch the man caused Chief Scheibel to hurry him to the county jail at Janesville on the first interurban car. He was safely behind the bars here at seven o'clock. Waived Examination Anderson is 42 years of age. His wife was formerly a Mrs. Gnadt of Green Bay. When he was taken back to Beloit for his hearing this morning and asked to have her come and see him it is alleged that she refused and made the statement that she hoped never again to lay eyes upon him in this world. The prisoner waived examination and was bound over for trial to the municipal court with bail fixed at $2,000. He was unable to secure the bonds and was brought back to the county jail this noon. The trial is set for Thursday, May 2. May Be Other Charges It is alleged that other charges involving other young girls in the neighborhood, ranging from eight to fifteen years of age, have been made against Anderson. The punishment for the offense with which he is charged is a long term in state's prison.

PROMPT AND HAZARDOUS ACT STOPPED A BAD RUNAWAY

Albert Dudley Was the Hero of an Exciting Incident on Milwaukee Street Yesterday. One of the neatest exploits in the line of stopping a runaway team, which has been seen here for a long time, was executed by Albert Dudley, a young man in the employ of W. A. Murray's meat market, about four o'clock yesterday afternoon. A heavy team of horses attached to a farmer's wagon which had been standing in front of the market became frightened in some unaccountable manner and breaking the hitching strap started on a mad dash westward on Milwaukee street. The young man sprang from behind the counter where he was at work, made a record-breaking sprint for the wagon, seized one of the sideboards, was poised horizontally like a kite for an instant, drew himself into the box, crawled up under the seat, seized the reins and had the mad steeds under control by the time they passed the Grand hotel. He drove them around the block and then brought them perfectly quieted back to the place from which they had started. The young man was highly complimented by the spectators who had witnessed the brave act.

VALUABLE LAND IN INDIAN TERRITORY

Geological Survey of Muskogee Quadrangle Shows Region Is Rich in Many Resources. [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Washington, D. C., April 27.—The United States Geological survey has just brought out an interesting folio dealing with the Muskogee quadrangle, a division of land located in the Cherokee and Creek nations, Indian Territory. According to the report the quadrangle is rich in coal, oil, gas, building stone, limestone, road material, and clay. To these resources may be added water, soil, and the forests. The ores of zinc and lead may possibly be found in small deposits in the quadrangle, but they are not known to occur in commercial quantity. Bituminous coal of good quality is to be found in the Muskogee quadrangle, but has not been located in beds of sufficient thickness to be profitably mined except for local consumption. The production of oil in this quadrangle was limited; at the time of the survey's investigation in July, 1904, to the immediate vicinity of the town of Muskogee. This oil is of much higher grade than any other oil produced in Indian Territory.

FRANKLIN DAY IS IMPORTANT

The Great Celebration Is To Take Place In France Today And Tomorrow.

STATUE OF THE HISTORY MAKER

Presentation Speech To The French People Is To Be Made Formally—His Life And Work Depicted.

Paris, April 27.—The statue of Benjamin Franklin, to be unveiled tomorrow, is appropriately erected in close proximity to the scenes of his activity during the eventful eight years he spent in France. It stands on the Place du Trocadero, near the point where the Rue Franklin, named in his honor, leads towards the heights of Passy. All about are reminders of Franklin's sojourn in Passy—here the Place Franklin, further on the Passage Franklin, and on the busy thoroughfare of Passy the antiquated Hotel Franklin. It was on the Rue Franklin that the villa stood, surrounded by ample gardens, which became so well known as Franklin's home. The place is marked today by a brass tablet affixed to the wall of a tumble-down edifice, lately used as a religious school, but now closed under the law against religious teaching. The tablet reads: "Here stood a villa, dependency of the mansion of Valentin. Franklin occupied it from 1777 to 1785, placing thereon the first lightning-rod constructed in France. Historical Society of Auteuil and Passy, March 8th, 1896." No vestige of the Franklin villa remains today, but it is remembered as a substantial two-story structure, with commodious wings, surrounded by a terraced garden with walks shaded by double rows of linden trees. Here Franklin matured the plans by which France became the ally of the United States; here he erected, according to the traditions of Passy, the original lightning-rod, and here he spent his leisure hours among the keenest wits and brightest minds of France. Marat brought his "treaties upon the elementary fire here"; the Papal Nuncio had an audience in order to make known the generous disposition of Rome towards America; Mirabeau was a caller, and Chamfort presented a copy of his pamphlet against England. Franklin's earliest friendships in Passy were Lavoisier, whose wife was painting Franklin's portrait, the Duc de la Rochefoucauld, Malherbes and Turgot who came to talk political economy. It was through Turgot, that Franklin met Mme. Helvetius, widow of the celebrated philosopher, thus beginning a deep and sympathetic friendship. Regularly every Wednesday, Mmes. Helvetius, de Cabanes, de la Roche, and the Abbe Morillot, a congenial spirit, dined with Franklin. Here the party would meet Count de Estang, who was a neighbor of Franklin's; Doussault, the Segurs; Walpole; Lafayette; Franke, the king of Sweden's secretary, and Madame Brillou, an authoress who dedicated her works to Franklin. The American minister was a familiar figure of Passy in those days. Often he would take his crabstick for a walk, stopping occasionally to chat with the children and peasants. Usually his walks took him to the mansion of Mme. Helvetius, where, besides the hostess, and her two daughters, Mmes. de Mun and de Andlau, he was sure to meet such celebrities as Condorcet, Chamfort, Raynal, Mably and many other great Frenchmen of that day. Franklin seldom left Passy, except to fulfill the duties of his mission or to attend the sitting of the academy or the meetings of his lodge, "The Nine Sisters." It was from the villa that he went, with some trepidation, to the royal reception at Versailles, where Queen Marie Antoinette induced Franklin to remain and dine, and it was here, too, that he received, on his departure for America, the king's portrait set with four hundred and eighty diamonds, and Marie Antoinette's message directing he be conveyed to have on one of her own "attitudes." Franklin's eight years in Passy fixed his memory very firmly in the French mind, so that the statue is not erected among strangers. The Rochefoucauld's home is still on Rue Franklin; the de Muns are around the corner on the Rue de la Tour; the Lafayettes, the de la Roches and many other old families with whom Franklin associated, are not far away. And so the statue of the first American minister is at home among old associates and old friends.

SLIGHT PROFITS IN
PASSENGER TRAFFICRailways Say the Passenger Business
Is the Only One Does Not Pay.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., April 27.—In the two-cent passenger rate hearing of the North-Western road, just closed before the Wisconsin railroad rate commission, the railroad officials frankly acknowledged that the freight business is profitable, that the freight business is profitable, but they maintained that the passenger business pays only slight profits. At the close of the North-Western hearing the commissioners made plain their disappointment that the officials of the company had not presented the new material that was most desired in the proceeding, particularly the methods of ascertaining the cost and profit on passenger business. The road officials indicated that it was impossible to accurately calculate the precise cost of service and profits separately of the passenger and freight business, as these two parts of the carrying business were so closely related and involved, and were not accounted with sufficient separateness to make accurate calculations of profits practicable. The commissioners said that they already possessed much of the matter presented during the hearing. The Omaha, Wisconsin Central, St. Paul and other roads will follow at intervals with their objections to the proposed reduction of the maximum passenger rate from three to two cents a mile.

AMATEURS SEEN IN MOLIERE'S COMEDY"Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme" Presented by Dramatic Club of Sacred Heart at Myers Theatre.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

"The Upstart," an English translation by Prof. Stacy of Notre Dame university of Moliere's famous comedy "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme," presented by the dramatic club of Sacred Heart College of Watertown at the Myers theatre Thursday evening, April 26, under the auspices of Carroll Council No. 590, of the Knights of Columbus.

Cast of Characters
Mr. Jordan, an upstart.
Old Mr. Jordan, Jordan's uncle.

Harry Martin

Carl Hessel
Professor of Music.
Edward Tiedebolt
Professor of dancing.
Thomas Martin

Francis Morrissey
Tailor.
Thomas Healy
Assistant Tailors—John Dunne, Mario Dominguez, and Adolf Lanctor.
Pages attending Jordan.
Harry Tiedebolt, Francis Murphy.
Ronald Burns, Julius Kalish
Matti, Dervishes, Turks, Etc.

The play is built about the efforts of a crude and ignorant country gentleman named Jordan to climb the social ladder and enjoy the society of counts and nobles. Ludicrous situations result from the attempts of the professional coaches hired for the purpose to justify in him a knowledge of the polite arts of fencing, dancing, music, and philosophy. There is a cousin, Lucille, whose dowry is in Jordan's charge. He has determined that she shall marry a nobleman and Cleon, a worthy young man without title who seeks her hand and whose suit is favored by the unpretentious uncle of "The Upstart," is rebuffed by the aspirant for social position. Through the connivance of friends, however, Cleon appears in the guise of a Turkish personage of high rank and is welcomed as a suitor for the hand of the fair cousin with ridiculous ceremonies.

The young amateurs from Sacred Heart College give a creditable delineation of the several parts and the interest is materially enhanced by the musical numbers, rendered by a quartette. Carl Hessel as the Professor of Philosophy is one of the best in the cast and very good work is done by Francis Ryan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Ryan of this city, in the role of Dorimenes, a nobleman of high rank. A fairly large audience witnessed the production. The proceeds are to be applied to the K. of C. fund for the San Francisco sufferers.

...FORTY YEARS AGO...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Friday, April 27, 1906.—Baseball.—A game of baseball will take place at the grounds used last year, this evening at six o'clock precisely.

Warm.—At half past two this afternoon the thermometer indicated 30 above zero, in the shade. That certainly smacks of spring.

Sheep at Auction.—There is to be an auction sale at the American House tomorrow afternoon, at one o'clock. The flock embraces some very choice stock. Dealers will make a note of it.

Destructive Fire at Port Atkinson.—Post Office Burned.—We learn by a gentleman from Port Atkinson, that a very destructive fire occurred at that place night before last at 12 o'clock, destroying an entire block. The Post Office, with its entire contents, was burned. The building known as Central Hall, occupied below by Wm. Pantler, harness shop; Mr. Anderson, confectionary, etc.; Mr. Howard, stove and tin store, together with several other buildings were totally destroyed. No insurance. The origin of the fire, as yet, remains a mystery.

Shortening Rivers.—The Mississippi River, during the high water now prevailing, is reported to have broken through Terapah Bend, near Vicksburg, which General Williams wasted much labor in attempting to get through, without success. Gen. Grant afterwards made a still more earnest effort, which was also a failure. And now the Mississippi has shown her self superior to them both. This cut shortens the river thirteen miles, and will leave Eagle Bend a lake fourteen miles long.

The James, in taking advantage of Gen. Butler's "Dutch Gap Canal," below Richmond and so enlarging and completing it that small crafts now pass through at high stages of water, thereby saving several miles by a cross-cut of less than one. Ten years hence, when Richmond has 100,000 inhabitants, this will doubtless be the main channel, though it will cost something more to make it so. So the work of improvement goes on.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

Al. H. Wilson, (Metz), in "The German Gipsy."

The versatile German dialect comedian and singer, Al. H. Wilson, (Metz), will be seen under the management of Sidney R. Ellis, in a brilliant comedy entitled, "The German Gipsy," at the Myers Grand tonight. The play is brim full of bright lines, laughable situations and original character studies. The story is well told throughout and is just complicated enough to keep the fun going at a rapid rate with just enough pathos here and there to throw in the darker shades by the way of contrast.

In "The German Gipsy" Mr. Wilson has a role that will commend him as a comedian of delightful methods, a character fairly scintillating with clever sayings, and, as he reads his lines very rapidly, you will be kept busy all the time he is on the stage catching his points, for he will not stop to see whether you have or not. Mr. Wilson introduces a number of pretty songs in this play that will charm and enthrall every lover of good singing. His repertoire contains several numbers that will be sure to amuse and delight every one who hears them. Among the most notable is a waltz refrain, "Under the Harvest Moon," an enticing ballad, "No Love Like Thine," while "Gretchen" catches those who delight in dancing with its irresistible tempo; and "The Love Trust" will appeal to everyone who is happy in the parental nest. A yodel of the true Alpine ring, termed "My Old Pipe," should be heard as it shows to an advantage Mr. Wilson's wonderful control over his voice, while in the catchy strain of "The Girl For Me," many topical themes of the day are introduced.

Mr. Wilson will be ably supported by a large and efficient cast, including such well-known players as: Ross O'Neal, Thomas Hunter, Lillian Rhoads, Florence Stover, Francis I. Botson, etc.

In justice to the gentleman in question this statement is made.

WOULD IT BE WORTH THE COST?

Who wants a strike? says the Wall Street Journal.

Evidently the coal operators. They are ready for it. They have large stocks of anthracite on hand and they are better prepared for a battle with the miners than ever before. A few of their number, indeed, may desire to effect a compromise with the miners, but a majority feel that the time has come when they can fight a pitched battle and by winning it destroy the effectiveness of the miners' organization and make themselves complete masters of the anthracite industry. It remains to be seen whether such a victory would be worth all that it will cost. As for the consumers—oh, well, what's the use of talking about them?

SOMETHING WRONG.

The anthracite fields of Pennsylvania are filled with treasures of coal provided by bountiful nature for the comfort of mankind.

But the mines are closed. Near them are thousands of idle workmen. Soon there may be thousands of miners' wives and children suffering for the necessities of life, depending upon on the bounty of the charitable to save them from starvation.

In our crowded cities are millions of poor people depending upon that coal stored in the mines of Pennsylvania to preserve them from the hardships of cold, and to provide them with fuel with which to prepare their food. If the strike long continues it is easy to conceive of conditions of distress in our great cities such as would amount to a national calamity.

Bountiful stores of coal, idle workmen, starving families at the mines, cold and distress among the poor in the cities—surely such a condition as this is so striking that a corporation counsel record of Jersey City is quite justified in saying that it is a sign of something radically wrong in our industrial system.

AN ECONOMIC LOSS.

The San Francisco earthquake, the proceedings to investigate the coal roads, the refusal of the anthracite operators to entertain the latest proposals of the miners, thus indicating a probable coal strike, and the message of President Roosevelt sharply criticizing the decision of Judge Humphreys in the beef packers' case as a miscarriage of justice, are events which contributed to the general decline in the stock market.

The disaster at San Francisco involves an unknown but undoubtedly great loss of wealth. There is no compensation for this loss. It amounts to exactly the same as the going down of a treasure ship in mid-ocean. It is true that the rebuilding of the devastated parts of San Francisco will give activity to certain branches of industry and work for wage-earners, but this does not alter the fact that the disaster is an economic loss.

San Francisco is a great and prosperous city and will no doubt rise from the disaster with the same triumphant vigor that Baltimore displayed after her terrible fire. It should be remembered, however, that the Baltimore fire occurred at a time when the conditions in Wall street were radically different from those now prevailing, so that it could hardly stand as a precedent by which to judge the effect upon the financial situation of this new catastrophe.

PRESS COMMENT.

Bob Will "Fix 'Em" Later.

Madison Democrat: Senator La Follette will even the score with those senators who left his speech to take a drink when he gets out on the chautauque circuit.

Blow-Up Might Help There.

Sheboygan Journal: The mud in the Dismal Swamp is boiling and virgians are afraid of an earthquake. The last uprising in that state had a bad ending.

La Crosse Chronicle: A man who has no more judgment than to try to show his son how to do a problem in geometry will try to stop a leak in the plumbing.

Another Sad Foreboding.

Chicago Record-Herald: Another sad thing about it is that "The Fall of San Francisco" will, for a while at least, take the place of "The Last Days of Pompeii" at the fireworks shows.

What It Cost Becker.

Fond du Lac Commonwealth: The statement, filed by Mayor Becker, shows that his election cost him $9,207.91. Even at that a good lot of people will agree that it was worth the price to Milwaukee.

Suffered For Ignoring Life.

Milwaukee Sentinel: Amid the clash of embattled scientists, Dr. Dowle explains the earthquake most lucidly. "San Francisco refused to receive my message in 1888. There you are. And how about New York's seismic prospects, doctor?"

To Be Respectable Some Day.

Chicago Record-Herald: A Philadelphia man attempted to commit suicide because he had been summoned for jury duty. Let us hope the time may come when a man may serve on a jury and still face his friends without feeling that they regard him as one who has disgraced himself.

Opened By Mistake.

Judge: Mr. Jones had appendicitis and was taken to the hospital and operated upon for this disorder. It was then discovered that nothing whatever was the matter with him, whereupon he was sent home to his family with a brief note stating that he had been "opened by mistake."

Consistency a Jewel, Etc.

Oshkosh Northwestern: Speaking of the recent announcement that microbes have been discovered in church hymn books, The Hurley Miner remarks it is rather strange that no one has ever yet found any dangerous microbes hanging around the door-knob of a saloon. It's a funny old world, sure enough.

A Courtesy That Is Your Duty.

Berlin Journal: It is a courtesy to your guests to see that their names appear in the local newspaper. It is

BAKING POWDER

Good health depends mostly upon the food we eat.

We can't be healthy if we take alum or other poison daily in our food.

Dr. Price's Baking Powder is absolutely free from alum. It is made from pure cream of tartar and adds to the healthfulness of the food.

PRICE BAKING POWDER CO.,

NOTE.—Baking powders that are sold at ten to thirty cents a pound, or a cent an ounce, are made from alum. Avoid them.

due to your friends and yourself that when visiting, their names should appear in the paper. Some one in the family should inform the newspaper of sickness in the home. Remember that the newspaper is made by human hands and brains, and if the item concerning yourself or your friend does not appear it is largely your fault. No newspaper worker is omnipresent.

When the Butter's Golden Yellow.

Evening Wisconsin: Now that an East Milwaukee woman has been killed by taking butter-coloring in mistake for medicine, many people will concede that it's just as well that butter-coloring can't be put into oleomargarine. They may go further, and conclude that it would be just as well as if it couldn't be put into butter.

"Greed So Dead"—Rather.

Menasha Record: Wouldn't it be queer if it should be demonstrated that, instead of the railroads beating the public, the public had been beating the railroads? Isn't it a fact that Breathers there a man with soul so dead, who never to himself has said, "All of a railroad, get ahead?"

Frisco Insurance Losses.

New York Times: Altogether there were three hundred and thirty-five companies immediately affected by the Chicago fire. The aggregate capital affected of these was $79,329,210; the total gross receipts, $135,420,426; and the total losses $82,821,122. Twenty New York companies suspended, fourteen in Illinois, seven in Connecticut, six in Rhode Island, five in Ohio, three in Massachusetts and one each in Pennsylvania, Missouri and Maryland.

Placing the property loss covered by insurance in San Francisco at from $150,000,000 to $200,000,000, the foreign companies will have to stand from $15,000,000 to $100,000,000 of the total amount.

Representatives of the leading foreign companies say that the bulk of this would be sent from the home offices in Europe. While they all carry big balances in the United States, the policy of most of them will be to allow the greater part of such balances to remain intact and not deplete them by the settlement of San Francisco claims.

Blatherskites in Journalism.

La Crosse Chronicle: We have before us recent copies of the Chicago American, Denver Times and St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Each is a representative of reckless, conscienceless, vicious yellow journalism. Each made the San Francisco disaster the occasion for printing the most sensational falsehoods that the devilish cleverness of well-paid writers could invent. Not one of this trio of journalistic blatherskites hesitated to proclaim, so lately as Saturday last, that the loss of life in California by reason of the earthquake would exceed ten thousand. Every careful editor who read the reliable reports of the Associated Press with anything like patience and discrimination has known for days that the total number of lives lost both by earthquake and fire in California would not exceed one thousand. It was infamous deception to print falsehoods of the sort we have described in the riotous prominence of red letters and without a fact to excuse or mitigate it.

The Race of the Future.

Luther Burbank in May Century: We are more crossed than any other nation in the history of the world, and here we meet the same results that are always seen in a much crossed race of plants; all the worst as well as all the best qualities of each are brought out in their fullest intensities. Right here is where selective environment counts. When all the necessary crossing has been done, then comes the world of elimination, the work of refining; until we shall get an ultimate product that should be the finest race ever known. The characteristics of the many peoples that make up this nation will show in the composite; the finished product will be the race of the future.

Characteristically Modern.

Chicago Tribune: It is reported that the committee of government experts which investigated the imputations of evil in the beef packers' industry made in "Upton Sinclair's recent novel" has found that facts do not justify the impression the book seems intended to leave. Its incidents are said to be often perverted, often separated by years of time, unrelated as among themselves, and therefore without the sinister meaning attributed to them. What else could any one expect? A romancer dealing in sensations for sale never considers truth. He has an eye to stage effect for the sake of sales and nothing more. This is the sort of novels that we are getting nowadays.

Bigelow Takes All Responsibility.

La Crosse Leader-Press: F. G. Bigelow, former president of the First National bank of Milwaukee and now a convict in the Leavenworth penitentiary, has come to the rescue of his associate Goll, now on trial for embezzlement also, and has caused to be raised the question of how far a subordinate officer may go in obeying the orders of his superior. Goll, who was assistant cashier, is charged with conniving at the defalcations of Bigelow, and with making some on his own account. Goll denies any irregularities except at the order of his chief. There is a dispute as to whether Bigelow ordered cash manipulation of the books Goll is guilty of, but there is no question, now that Bigelow has testified, that most of the work of this kind was done at the direction of Bigelow. The latter himself admits it. This being the case, and omitting the few instances in which it is alleged that Goll acted on his own responsibility, the jury will have a chance to decide whether Goll was justified in assisting in the making and the concealment of the embezzlements. His act, of course, was improper, but he pleads a powerful extenuation when he shows that this position depended upon Bigelow, that to refuse to obey him, even when he was in the wrong would have meant the loss of Goll's position and that in obeying he was merely weak, not criminal. The argument is plausible rather than convincing, but it will undoubtedly serve to arouse much sympathy for the man now on trial and sympathy often counts more than facts with a jury.

THERE IS COAL ENOUGH.

Plenty of Fuel to Last the World for Thousands of Years.

The total known coal production of the world is something like 700,000,000 tons, not annual, and experts state that even at this rate of production, there is sufficient coal to last thousands of years to come. Some faint idea can be gathered from these figures of the enormous quantity of coal there is on this planet, and so one can better appreciate the statement made by Sir Robert Ball that all the coal on the earth would not supply the sun's heat for one-tenth of a second.

There are many interesting facts about the sun which are not common knowledge. For instance, if the clouds were removed from the sun, our luminary would lose all its brightness, and the sun spots, about which we have heard so much, are merely places where the clouds are broken.

It is interesting to know that the power of the sun to warm us depends on an element so important to our life here on earth, such as the rose-colored prominences on the sun, which consist of hydrogen.

Puts Ban on Profanity.

Whether drunk or sober, at the time any man or woman arrested by the Portland police who uses profane or abusive language at headquarters will be charged with such offense, in addition to whatever else he may be in custody for. This action was decided upon by Chief Griffiths yesterday morning, and the first man to find himself up against the new rule was Dave Mattoon—Portland Oregonian.

Don't take stock in anything that doesn't pay a fair and honest dividend.

A short story, merely mention the fact that we are showing all of the desired styles, the late things in Hosiery. Plain, lace, or embroidered in fine cotton, mercerized cotton, hisle, gauze hisle, or silk.

38c for fine lace hose that you'd say are worth 50c.

White are popular; all grades here for women, misses, children.

For Men, excellent fancy hose at 25c and 50c.

Hosiery in all the fashionable colors.

18c for highly mercerized hose for infants and children; look like silk.

WASH FABRICS

If you want to delight your eyes, surprise your imagination and satisfy the most astute longing for excessively pretty fabrics at extremely low prices, visit this store tomorrow.

Rich and elegant silks are imitated, and you would swear they are pure silk. The "cotton wizards" haven't stopped at making silks of cotton—but have resembled the wool voiles and etamines and mohairs so closely that you would need a microscope to tell those of cotton from those of wool. We don't care whether you buy or not—we do want you to see these beautiful wash fabrics and take note of their price lowness.

22c for Mercerized Cotton Checks in black and white and 16 colors, the kind that wash and wear so well, usually sold at 25c. 27 inch Perianette is a new 27 inch lustrous cotton material resembling wool, medium weight, all colors, 25c. Tourist Suiting, a 36 inch white shrunken cotton, linen finish, for suits or skirts. The best we have ever offered at 15c. Linen Suitings—O these we show a very large assortment, natural linen and all colors, several grades, 15c, 20c, 25c, 30c, 35c, 38c.

For Children—the 36 inch striped colored linens which we are selling so much of are the best bargain in our stock; they wash so well and wear cannot be beaten. Imported, made to sell at 50c, our price is only 25c.

If you visit The Big Store often, so much here that cannot be seen elsewhere.

MRS. B. H. WAITE, of La Prairie, was in Janesville one day this week on a special mission.

She came to have some of her aching teeth extracted.

She evidently got the work done all satisfactory because just before leaving for home she said to a friend: "Dr. Richards does just as they told me he did."

"He really took out five teeth for me WITHOUT HURTING ONE BIT."

"I had suffered something fierce with my teeth all winter and dreaded the ordeal awfully."

"But it was nothing at all."

"I shall always come to Dr. Richards for my dental work."

Such comments occur every day regarding Dr. Richards' practice, because he makes a specialty of PAIN-LESS DENTISTRY.

The league is composed of four teams, the endeavor to increase this number to six having proved futile.

MOVING PICTURES AT CARGILL CHURCH

Large Audience Entertained by Rev. A. W. Stevens of Milwaukee Last Evening.

At the Cargill Methodist Episcopal church last evening the Royal Picture Entertainment of Rev. A. W. Stevens of Milwaukee was given before an audience that taxed the capacity of the auditorium. The program consisted of moving pictures, art slides and illustrated songs. The latter was sung by Leonard Mathews. There was much of humor in the moving pictures and the close attention of the audience was maintained from beginning to end. This was the first of a series of picture entertainments, the others of which are entirely different and will be given this evening and tomorrow evening.

WATER TWELVE FEET FROM THE SURFACE

Efforts To Secure Flowing Well At St. Paul Roundhouse And Shops Have Proven Failures.

Yesterday the well drillers, who have been at work during the past few months at the local roundhouse and shops of the St. Paul Railway company, reached a vein of water, which flows within twelve feet of the surface. The vein is down 1375 feet and it was decided not to go deeper but pump the water to the surface. A free-flowing well was very much desired but as it is very probable that the drillers might go two thousand feet deeper without finding a vein that would supply such a well, hope was given up and the drillers are preparing to leave. The power necessary to pump the water to the surface can be furnished very easily from the stationary boiler in the shop building.

Letter to Prof. H. C. Buell, Janesville, Wis.

Dear Sir: Here's an interesting little story of the way a painter "worked" a school master to the benefit of both.

Prof. J. W. Spindler, superintendent of city schools of Winfield, Kan., had his house painted a few years ago with mixed paint which turned out badly. Three years ago he decided to re-paint. He studied the matter up a little, and decided that he wanted lead and zinc mixed by a good painter.

He gave his order for it to J. M. Vaughn, painter, and specified just what he wanted in the way of paint. Mr. Vaughn simply put on Devoe lead-and-zinc paint and said nothing; but he knew it was made of the right materials, and better mixed than he could do by hand.

The other day Prof. Spindler complimented Vaughn on the excellence of the job; and then the painter confessed. The house looks well, yet.

Yours truly, F. W. Devoe & Co., New York and Chicago. P. S.—J. P. Baker sells our paint.

CHAPTER V.

GODWIN laid down the letter, and all of them stared at one another in amazement.

"Surely," said Wulf, "this is some fool's trick played off upon our uncle as an evil jest."

By way of answer Sir Andrew took him into the room that hid the contents of the letter and saw what lay there. Wulf did so, and next moment threw back his head like a man whom some sudden light had blinded, as well he might, for from it came such a glare of gold as Essex had rarely seen before.

One by one they drew its treasures from the chest—coral, necklace of pearls, breast ornaments of rubies, girle of sapphires, jeweled anklets, and with them veil, sandals, robes and other garments of gold embroidered purple silk. Moreover, among these, also sealed with the seals of Saladin-ed-din, his viziers, officers of state and secretaries, was that patent of which the letter spoke, setting out the full titles of the Princess of Baalbeck, the extent and boundaries of her great estates and the amount of her annual revenue, which seemed more money than they had ever heard of.

Sir Andrew looked up and said: "Child, do you know what Saladin has made of you? Why, there are queens in Europe who would be glad to own that rank and those estates in the rich lands above Damascus. Say, will you go and queen it there?"

Rosamund gazed at the gleaming goods and the writings that made her royal, and her eyes flashed and her breast heaved. Thrice she looked while they watched her, then turned her head as from the bait of some great temptation and answered the word only—

"Nay."

"Well spoken," said her father, who knew her blood and its longings. "At least, had the 'nay' been 'yes,' you must have gone alone. Give me ink and parchment, Godwin."

"They were brought, and he wrote. To the Sultan Saladin, from Andrew D'Arcy and his daughter Rosamund. We have received your letter, and we answer that where we are there we will abide in such state as God has given us. As for your threats, we will do our best to bring them to nothing. Knowing the customs of the east, we do not send back your gifts to you, since to do so would be to offer insult to one of the greatest men of all the world, but if you choose to ask for them, they are yours, and we will give you your dream, we say that it was but an empty vision of the night which a wise man should forget."

YOUR SERVANT AND YOUR NIECE.

Then he signed, and Rosamund signed after him, and the writing was done up, wrapped in silk and sealed.

"Now," said Sir Andrew, "hide away this wealth, since, were it known that "She answered one word only—'Nay.' We had such treasures in the place, every thief in England would be our visitor, some of them bearing high names, I think."

When everything was finished Sir Andrew said:

"Listen now, Rosamund, and you also, my nephews. I have never told you the true tale of how the sister of Saladin, who was known as Zobeide, daughter of Ayoub and afterward christened into our faith by the name of Mary, came to be my wife, yet you should learn it if only to show how evil returns upon a man. After the great Nur-ed-din took Damascus, Ayoub was made its governor; then some three and twenty years ago came the capture of Hama, in which my brother fell. Here I was wounded and taken prisoner. They bore me to Damascus, where

I was lodged in the palace of Ayoub and kindly treated. Here, too, it was, while I lay sick, that I made friends with the young Saladin and with his sister Zobeide, whom I met secretly in the gardens of the palace. The rest may be guessed. Although she numbered but half my years, she loved me as I loved her and for my sake offered to change her faith and fly with me to England, if opportunity could be found, which was hard.

"Now, as it chanced, I had a friend, a dark and secret man named Jebel, the young sheik of a terrible people, whose cruel rites no Christian understands. They are the subjects of one Mohammed in Persia, and live in castles at Masayr, on Lebanon. This man had been in alliance with the Franks, and once in a battle I saved his life from the Saracens at the risk of my own, whereon he swore that did I summon him from the ends of the earth he would come to me if I needed help. Moreover, he gave me his signet ring as a token, and, by virtue of it, so he said, power in his dominions equal to his own, though these I never visited. You know it, and, holding up his hand, Sir Andrew showed them a heavy gold ring in which was set a black stone with red veins running across the stone in the exact shape of a dagger, and beneath the dagger words cut in unknown characters.

"So in my plight I bethought me of Jebel and found means to send him a letter sealed with his ring. Nor did he forget his promise, for within twelve days Zobeide and I were galloping for Beirut on two horses so swift that all the cavalry of Ayoub could not overtake them. We reached the city, and there were married, Rosamund. There, too, your mother was baptized a Christian. Thence, since it was not safe for us to stay in the east, we took ship and came ashore, bearing this ring of Jebel with us, for I would not give it up, as his servants demanded that I should do, except to him alone.

"That is the story. Since then Saladin, who in those days was but a noble youth, has become the greatest sultan that the east has ever known, and having been told of you, Rosamund, by that traitor Lozelle, he seeks to take you, in your mother's place, and, daughter, I tell you that I fear him."

"At least we have a year or longer in which to prepare ourselves or to hide," said Rosamund. "His palace must travel back to the east before my uncle Saladin can have our answer."

"Aye," said Sir Andrew, "perhaps we have a year."

"What of the attack on the quay?" asked Godwin, who had been thinking. "The knight Lozelle was named there. Yet if Saladin had to do with it, it seems strange that the blow should have come before the word."

Sir Andrew brooded awhile, then said:

"Being in this palace, I will question him."

So the man Nicholas, who was found still eating as though his hunger would never be satisfied, was brought in by Wulf. He bowed low before the old knight and Rosamund, studying them the while with his sharp eyes, and the roof and the floor and every other detail of the chamber, for those eyes of his seemed to miss nothing.

"You have brought me a letter from far away, Sir Palmer, who are named Nicholas," said Sir Andrew. "I find it strange that one in your holy garb should be chosen as the messenger of Saladin, with whom Christian men have little to do."

"But Saladin has much to do with Christian men, Sir Andrew. Thus he takes them prisoner even in times of peace, as he did me."

"Did he, then, take the knight Lozelle prisoner?"

"The knight Lozelle?" repeated the Palmer. "Was he a big red faced man, with a scar upon his forehead, who always wore a black cloak over his mail?"

"That might be he."

"Then he was not taken prisoner, but he came to visit the sultan at Damascus while I lay in bonds there. Afterward he left, and at last I heard that he had sailed for Europe three months before I did."

Now the brethren look at each other. So Lozelle was in England. But Sir Andrew made no comment, only he said:

"Tell me your story, and be careful that you speak the truth."

"Why should I not, who have nothing to hide?" answered Nicholas. "I was captured, by some Arabs as I journeyed to the Jordan upon a pilgrimage, who, when they found that I had no goods to be robbed of, would have killed me. This, indeed, they were about to do, had not some of Saladin's soldiers come by and commanded them to hold their hands and give me over to them. They did so, and the soldiers took me to Damascus. There I was imprisoned, but not close, and then it was that I saw Lozelle, or, at least, a Christian man who had some acquaintance, and as he seemed to be in favor with the Saracens, I begged him to intercede for me. Afterward I was brought before the court of Saladin, and, having questioned me, the sultan himself told me that I must either worship the false prophet, or die, to which you can guess my answer."

"Three days later Saladin sent for me again and offered to spare my life if I would swear an oath, which oath was that I should take a certain package and deliver it to you or to your daughter named the Lady Rosamund, here at your hall of St. Peter, in Essex, and bring back the answer to Damascus. Not wishing to die, I said that I would do this if the sultan passed his word, which he never breaks, that I should be set free afterward."

S.S.S. STANDARD TONIC

The ingredients of which S. S. S. is composed, and the method of combining and preparing them so that they gently and pleasantly build up and strengthen every part of the body, make it the ideal tonic for a disordered condition of the system. Every one feels the need of a tonic sometimes. The system seems to get "out of gear," the appetite becomes fickle, the energies are depressed, sleep is not restful or refreshing, and the entire body has a nervous, worn-out feeling. When the system is in this depleted, run-down condition it must be aided by a tonic, and S. S. S. is recognized everywhere as the standard. Being made entirely of roots, herbs and barks selected for their gentle action as well as their invigorating effect on the system, it will not disagreeably affect any of the delicate members or tissues as do most of the so-called tonics on the market which contain potash or some other harmful mineral ingredient. These derange the stomach and digestion, unfavorably affect the bowels or otherwise damage the health. S. S. S. tones up the stomach and digestion; improves the appetite; produces refreshing sleep; rids the body of that tired, run-down feeling; and supplies tone and vigor to the entire system. It re-establishes the healthy circulation of the blood, acts more promptly and gives better and more lasting results than any other tonic, and because of its vegetable purity is an absolutely safe medicine for young or old. S. S. S. acts admirably in cases of dyspepsia, indigestion and other stomach troubles, and after using it that uncomfortable feeling of fullness, dizziness or drowsiness, after eating, are no longer felt. Not only is S. S. S. the greatest of all tonics but possesses purifying and alterative properties, and if there is a taint in the blood it will promptly remove every trace and restore perfect health. In selecting your tonic for this year do not experiment but get S. S. S., the recognized standard.

An easily operated touring car with simple, accessible and reliable mechanism, ample road clearance, and the power to carry you as fast as you wish to go.

"Have had five machines, with four years' experience, and find yours the easiest of all to control, and your full elliptic springs make riding most comfortable. I was in the country for one month—the past summer, and used my machine every day and night, and never had to adjust any part while I was on the road. I think it a great advantage to buy a machine from your factory, which is the largest in the world and can always be relied on to treat you fairly."

You can take ten years off the apparent age of a house by installing a modern system of electric lighting. This should mean much to those who want to rent their property this spring, and also to those who occupy residences which they have bought or built without facilities for electric illumination. Wiring is a permanent improvement which has no "wear out" to it and which brings direct returns in the comforts and conveniences of electric connections for Lights, Fans, Flat Irons, Cooking Utensils and the like.

Estimates on wiring gladly furnished free of charge.

Judicial Privilege.

In a southern court one day, says a well known attorney, one of the counsel paused in his argument, remarking to the judge:

"I observe that your honor shakes his head at that statement. I desire to reaffirm it, although your honor disapproves."

"I am not aware," coldly responded the judge, "that I have intimated how I shall construe the evidence, nor what my decision will be in the premises. Your remark is entirely uncalled for."

"Your honor shook his head."

"True," said the judge. "There was a fly on my ear. And I'll have you know, sir, that I reserve the right to remove a fly in whatever manner pleases me."--Harper's Weekly.
